BIRCHEST CR an Innovative Cure additive for EPDM compound

It is well known that the presence of moisture in EPDM rubber compound formulation during the vulcanization process can cause serious deleterious effects in the finished rubber product. At normal vulcanizing temperatures, excessive moisture will "gas-out," causing surface anomalies such as blistering or voids on the cured rubber product.

Cyber Security

Cyber Security for The Defence Industry

Today, the Indian defence manufacturing industry is a major sector for the economy. The industry is likely to accelerate with rising concerns of national security. Demand for defence equipment in India has been growing due to the ongoing territorial disputes with Pakistan and China over the ownership of the Northern State of Kashmir and the North Eastern State of Arunachal Pradesh, respectively.
